IRISH EMIGRATION.—A late number of the Limerick (Ireland) Examiner, contains a most favorable report of the state of the crops in that country, and in the same number of the paper which thus heralds the advent of abundance, it is announced that the people are flying the country as though another famine were looming in the perspective.

"Turn where you will, nothing is talked of but the United States, American letters, checks steamboat and ship fares, and preparations of departure to another and more favored land."

"As for the penal laws and such other matters, the discussion of these is confined to the comparatively small section of the people who are yet calculating on their ability to maintain their position at home. But as regards the great mass of our countrymen—the working population—their minds are engrossed with one idea, and that is, the speediest manner in which they can contrive to remove themselves and families from that inevitable ruin that appears to be impending over this hapless land. Nothing can stop or stay this migrating propensity, no reasoning or persuasion, however cogent or plausible, can for a moment change their determination to join their friends in the far west. There is scarcely a family among the humble class of farmers and cottagers, that has not one or more representatives in America, and these are constantly sending home remittances to enable the rest of the family to emigrate. The people are flying away in large numbers, and on the roads in remote districts you will often meet long melancholy cavalcades of these poor people turning their backs on the land of their birth. In fact the poor man who has no friends to send him a remittance, and no means of paying his passage over, is looked upon as a doomed man. Country chapels on Sundays are thinly attended, owing to the death and desertion of the people.—Where will this end?"

DEATH OF A. F. FITCH AND W. GUNN.—We regret to learn that these individuals died yesterday, at the Hospital of the Sisters of Charity, after an illness of several days, occasioned by a severe attack of dysentery. Every attention was paid to them, which their kind and devoted nurses, physicians and families could bestow, but the disease had taken too powerful a hold on their systems to be eradicated. With these exceptions, the defendants in the conspiracy case have generally enjoyed comparative health during the pendency of their protracted trial. [Det. Free Press, Aug. 26.]

WHIG GOVERNORS.—The whigs of Michigan have already, in anticipation, four of their party leaders in the gubernatorial chair. They are A. J. Comstock, Townsend E. Gidley, Hezekiah Wells, and J. M. Edmunds. Our respects to their Excellencies till the first Tuesday in November. After that our respects to them as private citizens. [Adrian Watchtower.]

Mr. Hobbs, the Bostonian who has been "playing hob" with all the locks in England, has just performed a great feat. He has succeeded in picking the lock of the safe in which Her Majesty's State papers are kept, and extracted an important document, and then closed the door, the lock showing no signs of having been touched. The court and the country are alike amazed at the wonderful ingenuity of this live Yankee.
